

Earth Day Marked In New York City With Various Events

NEW YORK -- Earth Day turns 40 today and an estimated 1 billion people around the world will observe the anniversary with everything from tree planting events and local trash cleanups to a gathering of kite flyers. (Photo by Spencer Platt/Getty Images)

Various Earth Day Events

NEW YORK - APRIL 22: People are educated about water and energy efficiency at a Home Depot booth at an Earth Day event in Times Square on April 22, 2010 in New York City. Over a dozen vendors of recycling, conservation and energy efficient products educated consumers on some of the latest developments in earth friendly products. Earth Day turns 40 today and an estimated 1 billion people around the world will observe the anniversary with everything from tree planting events and local trash cleanups to a gathering of kite flyers. (Photo by Spencer Platt/Getty Images)

Previous Next

Most Emailed

- Pair of gambling bills advance in Illinois
- Dierbergs grocery to be built in Des Peres
- Harassment policy approved by Kirkwood school board
- Mark Twain's wish -- don't print my autobiography for 100 years
- Doctors fear mental patients may jam local emergency rooms

GET VIP NEWS ALERTS

KMOX NEWS RSS FEEDS

KMOX NEWS ON Twitter

ADVERTISEMENT

MORE PHOTOS

Getty/Mark Wilson
PHOTOS: Obama hosts award-winning small business owners

PHOTOS: South Korean protest against North Korea's torpedo attack

Getty/Prashanth Vishwanathan
PHOTOS: India air plane crash kills 158 people

Getty/John Moore
PHOTOS: Gulf Coast Struggles With Oil Spill